Cadet Petty Officer 2nd Class Cole-Christian Holinaty, 18, a senior at Leavenworth High School, has been nominated for Cadet of the Year from his local U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps unit, Harry S. Truman Squadron.

Holinaty is a member of the Harry S. Truman Squadron, U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps, based at the Battle Command Training Center, Fort Leavenworth.

As the nominee, Holinaty is recognized for his outstanding performance and leadership skills as demonstrated by his dedication and service to the community and the corps. This past year, Holinaty served as leading petty officer for the League Cadet Unit where he oversees and guides the training and development of younger cadets. Holinaty spent the past summer as an assistant company commander for a U.S. Naval Sea Cadet recruit training company at Camp Dodge, Iowa. He was also recently awarded the U.S. Navy League Youth Service Medal as well as a Naval Sea Cadet Corps Citation and Commendation.

Holinaty is also commended for his well-rounded service as he is also a senior leader among his Junior ROTC program, active with club and school sports, and enthusiastically volunteers in a number of community support services.

The U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps is a national youth program developed through the organization and cooperation of the Department of the Navy to encourage and aid American youth to develop.
